FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Warnett Hallen LLP Joins Forces with Drop It And Drive to Prevent Distracted Crashes

Vancouver, BC, May 5, 2015 – Vancouver law firm Warnett Hallen LLP is proud to announce their sponsorship of Drop It And Drive, the BC-based not-for-profit organization focused on eliminating distracted driving. On both a professional and personal level, Warnett Hallen understands the tragic consequences of distracted driving and walking, and is excited to back Drop It And Drive's impressive program to educate and raise awareness about preventable crashes.

Warnett Hallen's sponsorship will provide financial backing to Drop It And Drive so they can continue to provide compelling, multidimensional seminars to high schools, post-secondary institutions, community organizations and corporations across Canada. Walker Aggregates Inc. says of the presentation they received, "Couldn't forget this message even if (we) tried. Best Presentation Ever." Warnett Hallen's funding will also support Drop It And Drive's ongoing awareness building through blogs and social media. The firm has good reason to be so committed to this organization. Says Paul Warnett, Partner, "My family lost our mother to a distracted driver in 2005. It is devastating to lose a loved one to such a senseless act. In our firm, we see the aftermath of these accidents, and we want to get behind this cause and really make a difference to end distracted driving."

Although still a relatively new organization, Drop It And Drive has already received numerous awards and accolades for their work. The organization's founder, Karen Bowman, says of the community encouragement that Drop It And Drive has received, "I am so honoured to work and associate with dedicated people who share my passion to eradicate distracted driving and distracted walking injuries and fatalities caused by preventable crashes."

Warnett Hallen Law is a boutique personal injury law firm based in Kitsilano, Vancouver, and headed by Paul Warnett and Manjot Hallen. Founded in 2010, Drop It And Drive's goal is to end distracted driving by making it as socially unacceptable as drinking and driving. Founder Karen Bowman is a crash survivor herself, and not long after the organization was created her then eight-year-old daughter was injured by a distracted driver. Run by Ms. Bowman in partnership with retired Surrey Fire Services Capt. Tim Baillie and Surrey RCMP Traffic Division Cpl. Bryan Fedirchuk, Drop It And Drive's campaign uses education, science and personal stories to deliver on their mandate. For more information please visit www.dropitanddrive.com.
